Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Mirabilia Vrbis Romae: The Marvel of Rome, or a Picture of the Golden City The little book of which an English version is here published for the first time was the standard guide-book of the more learned visitors to Rome from the twelfth to the fifteenth century. Its statements were received with the prefect due to a work of authority, and their influence may be traced in the writings of many of the authors who flourished during that period. The most striking example of the long-sustained credit of the medieval Roman Topography is afforded by the Letters of Petrarch. In the descriptions of Rome given by this great leader of the Revival of Learning, scarcely any trace appears of the new critical spirit, but the localities are still presented under the names, and associated with the legends, of the Mirabilia.
