Excerpt from Anniversary Address: Delivered Before the Hibernian Society of Columbia, South Carolina, on the 17th March, 1854 It is unquestionably true, that the only certain means of perpetuating the liberties of a people are a proper appreciation of their value, and an active vigilance against such causes as are likely to imperil them; and no people are deserving of the blessings of freedom, unless they are capable of duly estimating them, and are ever on their guard against the dangers that threaten their integrity or existence. Government cannot exist, at the same time preserving its purity, and conforming to its original fundamental principles, by any law of chance. As individuals gain the means of subsistence, the rewards of fame, and, in the end, eternal happiness, by hard and unceasing toil, so it is with an aggregate of men united in society under any constitutional form of government. If they would preserve what is worthy of preservation, avoid what is absolutely necessary to be avoided, and,...
