Little did he think as he was thus occupied, and thanking God for giving him in so short a time this, as it appeared, direct answer to his prayer, that the gentleman was watching him from the window above. I say, Abel, said Mr. Slater, addressing his partner, that's a nice lad there holding my horse. Yes, he appears to be thinking of something serious, by his countenance. No doubt he's thinking about what I'm going to give him. MR. SLATER QUESTIONS FRANK. 61 Did you make him a good offer then, Slater, to hold your horse? I promised him a night's supper, and I shall never forget the look he gave me. It seemed to go through me. Oh, it's only one of your generous impulses,...

Reviews

This book is really gripping and fascinating. Of course, it is actually play, nonetheless an interesting and amazing literature. You will not feel monotony at anytime of the time (that's what catalogs are for about if you request me).
