Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.When the ship had dropped anchor the Commander ordered a number of small boats lowered and, surrounded by a heavy guard of armed marines, he was rowed ashore and the company marched to Fort Simpson, several hundred yards distant. As he passed through the long lines of fierce-looking and painted Indians, Captain Prevost was struck at once by their fine physique, but equally impressed by the degraded, savage, murderous appearance of their faces. He was filled with compassion for these ignorant children of the forest, who knew naught of love or peace, or true joy, but whose lives from the cradle to the grave were filled with fear and cruelty, and hate, and murder. At this time no protestant missionary had ever come into the Northland to tell the red men of the message from God contained in the Bible, and the only religion they knew was the Devil Worship taught by the cruel medicine men. Arriving at the Fort, Captain Prevost received a hearty welcome from the garrison, for they thought the presence of the warship would have a salutary effect upon the red men. For a number of days the ship remained there undergoing repairs, the Captain meanwhile improving the time in studying the wild, untamed children of the forest. The more he saw of their nature, bold and defiant even in the face of imminent destruction, the more deeply was the conviction borne in upon his soul that what was needed to permanently restrain the Indians from murder and pillage, was not the presence of a warship, but of a missionary of the Gospel. He believed that the glad tidings of salvation could transform even...
