Excerpt: . . . 11 Under 1028, the courts have looked to statutory language, past decisions, and legislative history to determine the appropriate scope of the terms identification document and document-making implement. The cases indicate that the term identification document applied to completed and blank birth certificates, driver's licenses, and Federal and State identification cards. The statutory definition of a document-making implement included any implement, impression, electronic device, or computer hardware or software, that is specifically configured or primarily used for making an identification document, a false identification document, or another document-making implement. The case law suggests that this language has been applied to a wide range of materials outside the Internet context, but it is unclear whether the existing statutes would cover computer files or false-identification software template files. Specifically, it was unclear whether templates, which are used in a large number of those false identification documents transmitted over the Internet, constitute a document or a document-making implement - or whether they were covered at all under the original statutory definitions. The...
